WELCOME NOTE

Dear friends and colleagues,

it is my great pleasure to invite you to the symposium of our Collaborative Research Center PolyTar-get 2019 that will focus on „Innovative polymers for the nanomedicine of the 21st century”.

This international three-day event brings together experts from the field of polymer chemistry and application of nanomaterials in biology and medicine. It will cover many aspects of synthesis and characterization of polymers as well as the study of the performance of these materials in nanomedicine.

In order to put together an ambitious as well as varied scientific programme, we need your support! Therefore, I would like to cordially invite you to hand in your abstracts and I would be delighted about numerous submissions from your side!

I'm looking forward to seeing you in Jena!

Sincerely yours,

Prof. Dr. Ulrich S. Schubert
